The information packet will need to go out to members as soon as possible.

X. New Business:

- a) Megan Osbourn reported on the response to a Code of Conduct complaint that had been filed. The response states that it is highly recommended that all horse project leaders, review the code of conduct for both volunteers and members to ensure that they are aware of their responsibilities and rights as volunteers. Again, all personal conflicts must be set aside to ensure a safe and positive learning environment for all 4-H youth members. It is the hope of the County 4-H Council that any inappropriate behavior can be corrected so that no further action on this matter is needed. This statement needs council approval. Eric Jenks stated that he felt it was not appropriate to vote on a complaint that they knew nothing about. The complaint was read. Kayla Taylor questioned if it was the 4-H Council's responsibility to take action. Eric Jenks stated that he would go on record that nothing was said to be construed as a personal attack, and he did not see a breach of 4-H policy. He stated the parent was asked to give a reason for the transfer request and they would check with the 4-H office. Council members discussed the suggested response to the complaint. Eric Jenks moved that an article be written in the 4-H Clover Chatter by Megan Osbourn and Mike Murray for all leaders. The motion was seconded by Kayla Taylor, which passed with a voice vote.

It was decided for this year to hold an Ice Cream Social with no fund raising. Each community club leader will be asked to nominate a leader from their club to honor. Rhonda Smith moved that the Council provide $200 for dessert and drinks. The motion was seconded by Erin Cucchi and passed with a voice vote. Pat Bagley will be honored. Steven Sanchez suggested also honoring Russ and Donna Clark from Carl's Jr. Jeanne Christenson moved to honor the Clarks. Erin Cucchi seconded the motion and passed with a voice vote. It was discussed purchasing a plaque for the Clarks. Riley High moved that a plaque be purchased at a reasonable price. Motion was seconded by Jeanne Christenson, which passed with a voice vote.

Megan Osbourn recommended paying fees for two in the family of four, and pay half of the fees for each of the three in the family of three. The total that would be funded from the Agnes Puckett Scholarship Fund would be $103. Riley High moved that the Council fund the 103 from the Agnes Puckett Scholarship Fund for the seven members.
